Title: Implementation of POCT Services at Maryville Pharmacy

Executive Summary

Maryville Pharmacy is a small, independently-owned pharmacy located in Maryville, Illinois. They have survived by offering a long list of services not generally found at larger chains. These services include Medicare billing for durable medical equipment, long-term care medication planning, non-sterile compounding, and more. They currently serve approximately 3100 regular patients, which also includes pets. They are currently striving to move towards a patient-care business model, and have chosen to consider the addition of point-of-care testing (POCT) to their business model.
